

The trial of Jim Howard, charged with the murder of Gov. Goebel, was continued until the January term of the Franklin Circuit Court Wednesday. The continuance was granted by Judge Cantrell on the ground that the Commonwealth's Attorney had failed to notify the defendant ten days before the opening of the present term of court.

The conspiracy cases of the Commonwealth against W. S. Taylor, Charles Finley, Berry Howard, fugitive from justice, and against Green and Wharton Golden and William Culton were called and were continued until the January term.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied that there is nothing serious the matter with you. Get Green's Prize Almanac.—W. T. Brooks

HIS SIXTH AERIAL SHIP.

What Santos-Dumont Says of His New Machine.

FUTURE OF STEERABLE BALLOONS

Daring Brazilian Believes They Will Take the Place of Trains—Says His New Propeller Will Make About One Hundred and Sixty Revolutions a Minute.

M. Santos-Dumont, the daring balloonist, has been working day and night to complete his new flying machine, his sixth, in which he hopes to circle the Eiffel tower. Like Lipton, the question of expense never bothers him. He seeks the prize, no matter what it may cost.

"Everything is now ready for my next ascent," said M. Santos-Dumont to the Chicago American's Paris correspondent. "After weeks of prodigious labor since the wreck of my last balloon I have created another, and today (Aug. 31) for the first time I have taken things a bit leisurely. This balloon, which I call Santos-Dumont VI., seems to be satisfactory.

"It is only by experiment that we have been able to advance gradually until the conquest of the air is within our grasp. When the Santos-Dumont I. was built, we were groping. The Santos-Dumont VI. sees us within sight of the promised land. One becomes an aeronaut just as a man becomes a sailor, except that the former calling is much more exciting, and an aeronaut is never weighed down by a spirit of melancholy such as often marks the seaman.

"There are many fine points to be considered in making a balloon. Everything should be tight and well made. The motor should be strong. The rudder of a good balloon must be exactly poised. The question of hydrogen is of prime importance. We manufacture it in our laboratory by pouring water and sulphuric acid over steel filings. It is then dried by passing through chloride of calcium, sawdust and lime. We remove the heavy, dangerous carbonic acid by a device containing caustic soda. This leaves the hydrogen very light, with a lifting power of more than 1,000 grams per cubic meter. Then there are automatic valves which on the one hand must not be too sensitive, yet must be sufficiently so. If not sensitive enough, the pressure upon the balloon becomes dangerous.

"The propeller of the new airship makes about 160 revolutions a minute. This enables me to make headway against the wind, although I will select the best weather conditions possible for my next trial. I expect little difficulty so far as ascensional capacity is concerned. The steering is a great question. I hope to make the trip from St. Cloud around the Eiffel tower in twenty minutes."

It is no more a new sensation for satiated appetite that this young South American millionaire is seeking. His daring flights are not for the purpose of creating temporary fame on the boulevard. He is studying this working seriously to solve the great problem of aerial navigation and has startling views of the future revolutions which may result from the present experiments.

"I look upon the Santos-Dumont VI. as the nucleus of a navy of airships," he said. "Within a few years the steerable balloons will take the place of trains. We shall sail over the Alps instead of tunneling through them. We shall cross the Atlantic without wetting our ship. We shall make a tour of the world in a time short enough to frighten even Fitzmorris, the Chicago boy who went around the world in sixty days. The steerable balloon will be a frightful instrument of war. Its hovering presence would demoralize an army. The soldiers go to war, the king stays at home, but a balloon might be sent to dismantle his castle.

"A steerable balloon" would have brought the empress of China promptly to her senses. It can be used for carrying all sorts of messages and can throw bombs from midair into ships and forts. With wireless telegraphy we can send messages back and forth to earth. Its possibilities are illimitable."

King Alfred's Camp.

The approaching millenary of Alfred the Great lends special interest to the estate of Winklesbury, in Hampshire, now in the market, says the London Chronicle. It contains the well known circular camp of that name, said to have formed a stronghold of Alfred. Excavations just made by Reginald Smith of the British museum have brought to light fragments of ancient British pottery. An examination was also made in the autumn of last year, and on both occasions bones of extinct animals have been discovered showing traces of fire, probably sacrificial. The camp is believed to have existed before the Roman invasion. It was occupied as late as the seventeenth century by the parliamentary forces when besieging Basing House.

London Wants a Sanitary College.

A movement is on foot for the establishment of a sanitary college, the idea being the erection of a large building in which to carry on the work of education in sanitary science now being conducted at the Parkes museum, says a London correspondent. This last named institution was founded in 1876 in memory of the late Edmund Alexander Parkes, the first professor of hygiene in England. It is really a public demonstration school and has been the means of preparing a large number of men for useful public health work.
